DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA OFFICE OF HUMAN RIGHTS

Reference Guide: Approved Vendors for Translation and In-Person Interpretation Services

What you need to know

The government of D.C. has identified, vetted, and engaged four vendors in a citywide contract to provide document translation and in-person interpretation services for D.C. agencies:

- Comprehensive Language Center, Inc (CLCI),
- Dupont Computers, Inc (DCI),
- LanguageLine Solutions (LLS), and
- Multicultural Community Service (MCS).

(Note that interpretation refers to the process of converting spoken communication from one language to another, while translation refers to the process of converting written communication between languages. For the purposes of Language Access, one of these languages will always be English.)

You can find each vendor's specific offerings and rates below. If you would like to request a service, your Language Access Coordinator or Language Access Point of Contact can provide you with information regarding your agency's procurement process and existing purchase orders.

Quality Assurance Mechanism: At CLCI, project managers follow a specific course of action, the Five-Step process. The Five-Step process includes Project Analysis, Linguist Selection, Translation, Editing, and Content Check and Final Review. These steps incorporate the concepts of Total Quality Management, such that quality assurance is built into the development of each deliverable. Project managers consider the backgrounds and specializations of the linguists they assign to the job so that translations are more than literal; they resonate with the reader's cultural and linguistic sensibilities.
